"We continue to execute well against a challenging environment, delivering solid operating and financial results," said Gerry Smith, chief executive officer of The ODP Corporation. "The work that we have done to operationally separate the company into four distinct businesses has positioned us with greater flexibility, creating distinct routes-to-market, allowing us to better serve customers and pursue growth. Our ability to reinvest in the business while repurchasing shares is a true testament to our team's commitment to creating shareholder value and to the strength of our balance sheet. We're excited about ODP's strong position as we deploy capital to pursue profitable growth and generate strong returns for our shareholders."

GAAP to Non-GAAP Reconciliations (Unaudited)

We report our results in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("GAAP"). We also review certain financial measures excluding impacts of transactions that are not related to our core operations ("non-GAAP"). Management believes that the presentation of these non-GAAP financial measures enhances the ability of its investors to analyze trends in its business and provides a means to compare periods that may be affected by various items that might obscure trends or developments in its business. Management uses both GAAP and non-GAAP measures to assist in making business decisions and assessing overall performance. Non-GAAP measures help to evaluate programs and activities that are intended to attract and satisfy customers, separate from expenses and credits directly associated with Merger, restructuring, and certain similar items. Certain non-GAAP measures are also used for short and long-term incentive programs.

Our measurement of these non-GAAP financial measures may be different from similarly titled financial measures used by others and therefore may not be comparable. These non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered superior to the GAAP measures, but only to clarify some information and assist the reader. Also, we believe that adjusted free cash flow is an important indicator that provides additional perspective on our ability to generate cash to fund our strategy and expand our distribution network.

For purposes of reconciling GAAP to Non-GAAP metrics for preliminary Q2 2022 results:

- Adjusted operating income adjusts GAAP operating income for assets impairments and merger, restructuring and other operating expenses, net
- Adjusted net income from continuing operations and adjusted earnings per share from continuing operations (most dilutive) adjust GAAP net income and GAAP diluted earnings per share for assets impairments, merger, restructuring and other operating expenses, net and their related tax effect
- Adjusted free cash flow adjusts operating cash flow from continuing operations for capital expenditures and certain cash charges related to Maximize B2B Restructuring Plan and our previously planned separation of consumer business
